Congregational Church To Be Repaired

A Parish Meeting of the West Parish Congregational Church was held on Wednesday afternoon to take action upon a proposal to re-decorate and renovate the Church, which has been under consideration by the Parish officers for some time. Fred B. Merrill was elected as Moderator after the Clerk, Dr. F. E. Hanscom, had read the warning calling the meeting. Dr. H. T. Wallace related the steps taken by the Parish committee and made announcement of a very handsome and generous gift made to the Church by William Bingham, 2nd, to carry out the proposals made by the Architect, John Calvin Stevens of Portland, who had been engaged some time ago. This gift is to be supplemented by a sum raised by the Parish sufficient to carry out the proposed renovation.

The store property of Farm Service Stores Inc. at the foot of Main Street has been purchased by L. E. Davis who will remodel it to fit the needs of the retail department of his growing lumber business. The buildings offer much needed space as the present quarters of this concern on Upper Elm Street have been crowded for some time.

The premises have been used the greater part of the time in the grain business since first used by Woodbury & Purlington in 1881. After Mr. Purlington's death the place was vacant for a time but since 1926 has been occupied by the J. B. Ham Co. and their successor, the Farm Service Stores.

After this week the Farm Service stock will be removed. Mr. Davis has not completed his plans for the use of the building at present.

Miss Wight Re-elected School Superintendent With Larger District

At the meeting of the committees of the Bethel-Gilead-Greenwood-Newry-Upton union school district which was held at the Bethel grammar school building Saturday evening, Miss Carrie M. Wight was re-elected superintendent for one year. For the past year Miss Wight has served as superintendent of the Bethel-Gilead-Greenwood district. The towns of Newry and Upton have recently been added to this district and the two northern towns of their former union, Magalloway and Lincoln Plantations, have been grouped with Rangeley.

The salary was fixed at $2400, half of which is paid by the State. The balance is divided among the towns as follows: Bethel $600, Gilead $60, Greenwood $260, Upton $100, Newry $180. With the exception of Bethel there will be a considerable saving over the expense of previous years.

Rev. W. I. Bull Memorial Day Speaker at Bryant Pond

There was a large attendance at the Memorial services held at Bryant Pond Monday afternoon. The parade consisted of the 44 Class Band, American Legion, Ladies' Auxiliary, Daughters of Union Veterans, 4-H club and school children and teachers. P. Walter Gordon was the Marshal.

The march led to the cemetery where the graves of the soldiers were decorated and then back to the Grange Hall where the program consisted of prayer by Rev. James MacKillop; flag salute and songs by all; recitations, songs and a short play by school children. Rev. W. I. Bull of North Waterford gave a fine memorial address.

Clinic For Children Entering School

All parents who have children to enter school this fall for the first time will have an opportunity to have those children examined next week by the school physician, Dr. Harry M. Wilson.

This examination seems advisable in order that any children who need medical attention may receive treatment during the summer and thus be in the best possible condition when school opens in September.

Mothers may take their children to the primary school building at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon June 8, for this examination.

It is hoped that parents will consider carefully the age at which they have their children enter school. Educators everywhere are convinced that children are entering upon and completing their elementary school course before they have the physical endurance and maturity of mind to enable them to get the most out of their school life.

A child who is five years of age is eligible to enter school but parents and teachers realize that the child who is barely five years old is much less mature than the one who is nearing his sixth birthday. Parents may use their discretion but the school authorities suggest that no child enter school before he is five and one-half years of age.

THE MAINE MEETING PLACE

If you've forgotten, a horse is a four-legged, hay-eating animal used, among other things as a beast of burden.

I mention all this merely because for a time it seemed that this noble animal was to become as extinct as the dodo. Tractors, automobiles and sundry other means of travel had apparently sounded the death knell of faithful Old Dobbin.

Of late, however, Man's Best Friend seems to be on the way back for a return engagement. Horseback riding in particular is enjoying a surprising return to favor. Here in Maine it seems that in the near future this state will be known among horsemen as the Horse Kingdom.

Friends of the horse can thank the Maine Horse Association for this happy turn of events. Composed of members of the various riding clubs in Maine, this organization has been exceedingly active in awakening renewed interest in riding and its various offshoots.

With the help of the Maine Development Commission, the Horse Association has been instrumental in establishing what is perhaps the greatest system of riding trails in the country.

Utilizing abandoned roads, unpaved country roads, tote roads, and the like, over 1,500 miles of trails have been drawn into a network that reaches into every county in the state.

The interest in these trails shown by out-of-state riders has been amazing. Letter after letter has come into the Commission office asking for more information about the possibilities of spending a vacation on horseback thus adding a new avenue to more recreational business for the state.

At present the Maine Development Commission is compiling maps and other information for whoever wishes to ride Maine bridle paths.

This information describes the trails and gives data on the various stopping places enroute. These stopping places, for the most part, are at farm houses adding a new source of revenue for our people living along the routes.

In a few years it is safe to say that thousands of horses will be in Maine each year following the attractive byways.

The breeding and rearing of saddle horses to meet the future demand for these animals would seem to offer possibilities for added revenue for Maine people.

Let it not be thought that the new system of bridle paths is for the enjoyment of our out-of-state guests alone. They are yours to ride to your heart's content. Just follow the orange-painted signs on which appear a black horseshoe enclosing a trail number.

If you would like a map to assist you on your trips the Maine Development Commission, at the State House, Augusta, will be happy to send you one.

Service is an important factor in the operation of a store. Stocks of goods are kept on hand and customers' needs anticipated by the successful merchant. More than that he is expected to be able to obtain desired items on short notice and to give needed data and advice. Only when your merchant is unable to render these services is one justified in trading elsewhere.

The Almighty Unions

Fair-minded citizens who have withheld judgment on the C.I.O., until they could learn how the union would employ the power it wields are now provided with the answer. And, thanks to the United Automobile Workers of America, the country has been given a preview of what it may expect if the C.I.O. achieves its announced objective of enrolling all the nation's mass production workers under its banner.

This glimpse of the future came in a letter which the U.A.W.A. addressed to 3,000 property owners in Pontiac, Michigan, notifying the owners that unless they reduced rents to a figure set by the Union, the Union would instruct its members to discontinue paying all rents as of June 1. Not content with the agreement which it negotiated with the motor car manufacturers (an agreement incidentally which has not prevented 37 sit-down strikes at the plants of one manufacturer alone subsequent to the Union's solemn, signed assurance that there would be no more strikes) the U. A. W. A. has decided that the rents which property owners may ask for their houses, is a matter of union concern.

If the union is permitted to set itself up as a judge of what rents may be asked of its members what assurance is there that it will stop with that? How about food prices?
Will it tell the grocer what he may charge for a pound of butter or a dozen eggs or a loaf of bread? How about the laundryman? Will he be told how much he can charge for sheets or towels? And the druggist and the doctor and the filling station operator? Will they be told how much they can charge?

No wonder Pontiac is beginning to ask itself the question "collective bargaining or collective blind-folding?"

The Ghost

Almost exactly two years ago, the NRA was invalidated. No great cry of horror arose generally for the simple reason that the NRA had discredited itself with the public.
A few predicted disaster, but they turned out to be bad prophets.

Now Senator Black and Representative Connery are asking Congress to consider another bill reviving all the principles of the NRA. Before breathing life into ghosts, let's look at the record. The New York Times sums it up this way:

"It is now clear that there was no foundation in fact for the early fear that the Supreme Court verdict in the case of the NRA had dealt a death blow to the whole recovery movement. Precisely the opposite happened. The Government's own index of industrial production, compiled by the Federal Reserve Board, stood at 88 when NRA was declared unconstitutional. It now stands at 115. The Government's index of factory payrolls stood at 68.5. It now stands at 104. But the point of most significance is that the percentage of increase in pay-rolls has been even larger than the increase in production. Freed from

MEDAL OR MILLSTONE?

the controls and restraints imposed by NRA, business has not achieved its subsequent recovery at the expense of labor. For the reward of labor, measured in terms of pay-rolls, has more than kept pace with the increased output of factories and mills.

What the effects of renewed attempts upon the part of the Federal government to regulate wages and hours in every locality and plant will be none can foresee accurately at this time. It is a known factor, however, that arbitrary wage and hour restrictions seeking to blanket the entire country under one enactment must inevitably lead to confusion during a time of steady recovery. It is also known that sudden increases in wages and decreases in hours must be added to the cost of production, which in turn must be paid by the consumer and particularly the farmers, who form a major purchaser of the products of industry.

"Shield of Protection"
By ROBERT MERRILL
"THE Constitution of the United States is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and in peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men, at all times, and under all circumstances."

That quotation is from an opinion rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States in one of its most famous decisions. The facts in the case are these:

In October, 1864, Lambdin P. Milligan was sentenced to death on the gallows.

The sentence was declared void.
Why? Because he had been denied his constitutional right of trial by jury in a civil court.

The Supreme court of the United States, to which he appealed, made that ruling.

Tried in Military Court.
Milligan, a citizen of the state of Indiana, was arrested on charges of disloyalty to the Union cause. Although not a member of the army, he was tried and sentenced before a military commission, despite the fact that in the city of Indianapolis, where the trial was held, the civil courts were open.

Citing these circumstances and the fact that no indictment had been found against him, Milligan filed a petition to be discharged. The case eventually reached the Supreme court at Washington.

Learned and eloquent argument was heard on both sides. But the court based the decision on the Constitution, and held that one of its guarantees was broken when Milligan was denied a trial by jury.

"The great minds of the country," explained the formal opinion of the court, "have differed on the correct interpretation to be given to various provisions of the Federal Constitution; and judicial decision has been often invoked to settle their true meaning; but until recently no one ever doubted that the right of trial by jury was fortified in the organic law against the power of attack."

Calls It Grave Question.
"It is now assailed; but if ideas can be expressed in words, and language has any meaning, this right—one of the most valuable in a free country—is preserved to every one accused of crime who is not attached to the army, or navy, or militia in actual service."

The opinion pointed out that Milligan when arrested and convicted by a military commission was not a resident of a rebellious state, or a prisoner of war, but a citizen of Indiana, who had never been in the military or naval service.

"No graver question," it continued, "was ever considered by this court, nor one which more nearly concerns the rights of the whole people; for it is the birthright of every American citizen when charged with crime, to be tried and punished according to law."

"By the protection of the law human rights are secured; withdraw that protection, and they are at the mercy of wicked rulers, or the clamor of an excited people."

"If there was law to justify this military trial, it is not our province to interfere; if there was not, it is our duty to declare the nullity of the whole proceedings."

Again the opinion cited the constitutional rights established for the American citizen and declared:

Constitution Is Yardstick.
"The decision of this question does not depend on argument or judicial precedents, numerous and highly illustrative as they are. These precedents inform us of the extent of the struggle to preserve liberty and to relieve those in civil life from military trials. The founders of our Government were familiar with the history of that struggle; and secured in a written Constitution every right which the people had wrested from power during a contest of ages."

"By that Constitution and laws authorized by it this question must be determined."

This was not the only death sentence set aside by the Supreme court because it found that constitutional rights had been violated.

It had also ruled against the "Third Degree" as a method of obtaining evidence on which convictions were based.

"The rack and torture chamber," it pronounced, "may not be substituted for the witness stand."

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Falls, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual, National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

As you read this, conferences are being held in London which, though they will not make headlines save in economic periodicals, may vitally affect world industry. Further, these conferences may mark the eventual success or failure of one of the most far-reaching and important innovations of the Roosevelt Administration: The reciprocal tariff, conceived and administered by the man who is first in rank in the Cabinet and is also first, according to most commentators, in ability and public esteem—Secretary of State Hull.

As the magazine Life recently said in a caption to a brief pictorial history of the Secretary and his Department, "Cordell Hull believes in foreign trade—as much as possible with as few restrictions as possible. His tools are reciprocal trade agreements."

Theoretically, a reciprocal trade agreement is a relatively simple thing. Two or more nations get together, discuss their desires in the matter of imports and exports. Nation A, for example, is a major producer of heavy machinery for which it wishes a foreign outlet.
Nation B's leading asset is dairy produce, of which there is an internal surplus. So a deal is reached whereby Nation A reduces or eliminates its tariffs on farm produce, and Nation B does the same thing for heavy machinery. Manufacture booms in Nation A, and agriculture prosperes in Nation B, due to the new foreign consumption.

In practice, of course, reciprocal tariffs are extremely difficult documents to frame. Conflicting interests must be appeased, sectional jealousies smoothed over, political problems solved. The job calls for the utmost in doggedness, perseverance and patience—qualities possessed in large measure, along with the equally vital quality of a burning sincerity, by Secretary Hull.

So far, reciprocal treaties have been made with 16 countries, of which a considerable number are South American republics. One important treaty is that reached with France, which has resulted in an upsurge in trade between the tricolor and the stars and stripes.
Most important treaty, also most discussed, is that reached with Canada. This treaty is important not only because Canada is a bordering nation and one of our best foreign customers—it is vital because Canada is a main link in the chain of the British Empire.

Not everyone thinks the Canadian treaty wise, Pacific Northwest summermen, for instance, fought it aggressively, as did American dairy interests and liquor producers—the treaty reduced our tariff bars, to a varying extent, on Canadian timber, dairy products and whiskey. But the treaty greatly increased our Canadian market for industrial products, notably machinery, and the best economists think it was a good deal for all concerned.

Ever since then, Mr. Hull and his assistants have been working steadily and quietly to effect an agreement between the United Kingdom and the United States.
This is a treaty that is now being discussed in London.

Should the treaty be consummated, one of its major immediate effects will be to open a tremendous British market for products of American agriculture. Ultimate effect, it is hoped will be to smooth the way for reaching similar agreements with other major European powers. And this, in the view of Mr. Hull, would mean not only a revival in foreign trade for all participating nations—it would also mean a long step forward in the cause of world peace. Good customers, it can be reasonably argued don't fight.

The London conference began in mid-May, will continue well into June. The trade talks going on there are largely secret—news is not given out until decisions have been reached, weighed, revalued and finished. It is the hope of many that out of the conference will come a major contribution to international prosperity and stability—and to international amicability. If that happens, an ex-Tennessee country lawyer, Cordell Hull by name, will deserve the bulk of credit for a gigantic task successfully completed.

One sure sign of better times is increased purchasing of goods in the "pure luxury" classification.
Business Week says that estimates of 1937 retail jewelry sales run as high as $375,000,000—29% above last year. First quarter imports of gems, mainly diamonds, came to $14,507,000, which is double the total for the same period in 1936.

Business is still doing well, and is holding to the high production levels reached last winter and spring by most lines. Steel is operating at more than 90% of capacity.
April construction in 37 states came to more than $108,000,000, and less of it was government building than formerly. Motors are running very close to peak production.

Labor troubles are still a big fly in the ointment in some industries.
However, there has been less trouble than was expected—principally because managements have figured it more profitable to accept union demands than to take a chance on having to cease production in a period of heavy buying.

The following boys have been selected to act as ushers for the Graduation Exercises, Maynard Austin, Richard Crockett, Rupert Grover, Edward Wheeler, Irving Brown, Frank Littlehale, Royden Keddy, Herbert Foote, Lee Hutchins and Mellen Kimball; for the Commencement Reception, George Adams, Donald Brown, Robert Keniston, John King, Bryant Bean, Lewis Porter, Arthur Bennett, Brooks MacFarland, Edward Robertson, Donald Holt, Walter Eckhoff, Keene Swan, Dana Brooks and Rodney Wentzell.

"B" Squad 16—Rumford Point 15. The "B" Squad won another free-scoring game from Rumford Point last Wednesday afternoon, 16 to 15. This was a wild game full of errors and comedy.

Rumford started off in the first inning by making six runs on a couple of hits and four errors. They continued to add to this by timely hitting and as the Gould team, especially the outfielders, continued to throw the ball around. However, our boys picked up a few runs each inning and climaxed this by scoring four runs in the sixth after the first two men were out. Again in the final inning with the score 15 to 13 against them, they came through and scored three runs to win the ball game. The summary:

Gorham Batters Find Gould Pitchers for 22 Hits to Win 25-1

Gould Academy had another one of those days when everything goes wrong, pitchers knocked out of the box, well hit balls directly into fielders' hands, poor judgement in plays and at the bat, and many other things too numerous to mention. The result? A 25 to 1 victory for Gorham.

The game started with a bang as O. Robertson, "lead-off" man, tripled and Frankie Littlehale immediately singled him home. That was all there was for Gould but Gorham started in the first inning to score five runs and kept banging the ball hard, scoring in every inning but the fifth and sixth for a total of 22 base hits and 25 runs.

P. Ross and Anderson connected for four hits each while Rhuland connected for a home run with two mates aboard.

In Appreciation of the Primary School Operetta

A brief report of the recent primary school entertainment appeared in last week's Citizen, but the writer feels that more should be said in commendation of those who were responsible for the success of the presentation. It is only through a fine spirit of cooperation on the part of parents, teachers, and pupils that such results are accomplished. The teachers wish to express through the columns of the Citizen their appreciation of the work of the parents in assisting in the making of costumes and in many intangible ways which bespeak their cooperation.

The musical numbers of the program were prepared under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Tucker who has taught the music in the primary grades with marked success. The speaking parts were under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Bisbee, Miss Alice Ballard, and Miss Maxine Clough.

It is doubtful if all the members of the audience understand the value to the boys and girls themselves in preparing and presenting a program of this type. The rhythmic songs and dances may awaken and develop a sense of rhythm and a grace and poise hitherto unrecognized. The value of every child's working on a project in which all are cooperating that they may give pleasure in training in citizenship. Thus, there are reasons for such programs other than to provide amusement and raise money. Bethel is proud of her one hundred little citizens, many of whom made their first appearance in the two operettas and special numbers presented last week.

The personnel of the program was as follows:

Cast of characters for the two operettas follow: "The Cobbler and the Elves"—The Cobbler, Jimmy Brown; his wife, Mary Wentzell; Rich Man, Quentin Hall; Leather Man, Robert Crockett; First Elf (prologue), Harold Conner; Curly Elves, John Bean, Robert Goddard; Dancin' Elves, Betty McAllister, Rita and Rena Thompson, Lois Ann Van, Phyllis Merrill, Edwin Swain, Billy O'Brien, Billy Naimy; Ponies, John Greenleaf, Teddy Young, David Foster, Richard Douglas, The Forest, Margaret Baker, Cornelia and Cornelia Merrill, Lorraine Collins, Patsy Tucker, John Naimy, Rachel Brown, Helen Foster, Olla Richards, Lawrence Waterhouse, Kathleen

HOW MODERN WOMEN LOSE FAT SAFELY

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings out all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses. Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scale and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give you a joyous surprise.

Get a Jolt of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorous—alive—your money gladly returned. NOTE—Many people find that the only diet change necessary while taking Kruschen regularly is TO EAT LESS.

FACTS ABOUT NUTS

Peanuts and pecans are native products grown in our Southern states, while Brazil nuts, filberts, cashews and pistachios are imported from foreign lands. Part of the confectioner's supply of walnuts is imported and the rest is grown in this country. English walnuts come from France and California, while black walnuts are raised in the United States. Almonds, although found in five continents, come chiefly from Spain and Italy. California also produces almonds, and Italy and Turkey supply filberts. Cashews come from India.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH TO BE RENOVATED, STEEPLE RESTORED

The interior of the church auditorium is to be completely renovated,—the present metal ceiling replaced by plaster, a screen erected on either side of the organ, and the choir and pulpit platform enlarged. The walls are to be covered with decorator's canvas and the whole interior repainted. Outside the church steeple, removed some years ago, is to be restored as nearly as possible like the original and the whole building repainted. Colored sketches prepared by Mr. Stevens were shown, illustrating the renovated interior and the restored steeple, which will make the old church, erected just 90 years ago this year, more worthy of its beautiful surroundings. It is hoped that work upon the improvements to be made may be begun by the end of the month.

A resolution was unanimously approved accepting the gift and adopting the proposals as outlined by the architect. A resolution of thanks to Mr. Bingham was also ordered to be placed upon the Parish records and a copy sent to the generous benefactor of the Church. The following committees to carry out the work of renovation were appointed.

Building Committee—Rev. H. T. Wallace, John P. Butts, Fred B. Merrill, Mrs. A. Van Den Kerckhoven, Mrs. D. C. Philbrook.

Finance Committee—A. Van Den Kerckhoven, Mrs. W. J. Upson, Robert Hastings.

Grounds Committee—Dr. R. R. Tibbets, H. C. Rowe, L. W. Ramsell.

Rededication Committee—F. E. Russell, Mrs. W. R. Chapman, Mrs. W. B. Twaddle, Mrs. H. T. Wallace.

It is hoped to have the Church ready for occupancy in the early fall, when special services of re-opening and re-dedication will be held.
